This Agreement is entered into by and between Client (defined above) and The Economist Newspaper Limited ("The Economist"), publisher of The Economist newspaper, The Economist online and other applications and websites, with its regional offices at 20 Cabot Square, London E14 4QW, United Kingdom in relation to access to Economist Content described below. Client enters into this Agreement for itself and on behalf of each user ("Authorized Users") given access to Economist Content under it (as defined below).

For subscriptions to Economist Content (other than the Print Edition of The Economist newspaper). The Terms of Use available at <http://www.economist.com/legal/terms-of-use> are incorporated herein and form an integral part of this Agreement; however, the following sections of the Terms of Use shall not apply to this Agreement, which are the sections titled: Renewal, Cancellation, How to Cancel and Gift Subscriptions. All other terms within the Terms of Use shall apply. The Terms of Use govern the access to and use by each Authorized Users of all Economist Content provided hereunder, which, for the avoidance of doubt, includes: (i) The Economist online, at www.economist.com, or any other website made available under this Agreement (including The Economist audio edition) (the "Site"), and (ii) any digital application made available under this Agreement (each a "Digital Application"). In the event of a conflict between the Terms of Use and this Agreement, this Agreement shall control.

For subscriptions to the Print Edition: The content of The Economist is the intellectual property of The Economist and its licensors ("Economist Content"). You may not reproduce or allow anyone to reproduce any Economist Content or to use or reproduce any trademarks (such as "The Economist" name and logo or other trade names) appearing therein without written permission from The Economist.

The Client shall ensure that each Authorized User fully complies with the terms of this Agreement (including the Terms of Use) and the Client shall be responsible to The Economist for any failure so to comply. References in the Terms of Use to "you" and "your" shall be understood to refer to the Client and each Authorized Users; and references to "we" to The Economist.

For any account, technical or other questions associated with the subscription, Client and Authorized Users shall direct such questions to The Economist Account Manager specified above, at the following contact details:

- Phone: +44 207576 8148
- Email: grouponlinesubs@economist.com

1.) Economist Content

The Economist shall grant Client access to the following Economist Content:

Economist Content	Number of Authorized Users	Type of Access	Estimated Start Date	Term of Access
Economist.com	10	Internet Protocol (IP) Access	10/09/2017	12 Months

2.) Authorized Users

Authorized Users shall mean:

- For Digital Voucher Code Access (described below), the total number of individual Authorized Users of either: (i) current employees of Client; or (ii) (in the case of academic institutions) current faculty, students and staff of Client permitted to access the Economist Content in accordance with the Terms of Use
- For Internet Protocol (IP) Access (described below), the total number of individual Authorized Users of either: (i) current employees of Client; or (ii) (in the case of academic institutions) current faculty, students and staff of Client permitted to access the Economist Content in accordance with the Terms of Use.

- For subscriptions to the Print Edition (described below), the total number of individual Authorized Users of (i) current employees of Client, or (ii) (in the case of academic institutions) current faculty, students and staff of Client who are designated a print copy for their use.

3.) Type of Access

Client shall be permitted to access the Economist Content as specified above.

- Digital Voucher Code Access shall mean the number of individual Authorized Users indicated above, whereby each Authorized User individually registers on the Site and enters a voucher code to initiate access. For the avoidance of doubt, vouchers are non-transferable and cannot be deactivated, meaning that once a voucher is assigned to an Authorized Users it cannot be transferred to another person, nor canceled if that Authorized Users is no longer employed by or a student of Client, therefore, once a voucher is assigned, it will be deemed to have been used by Client.
- Internet Protocol (IP) Access shall mean access through Economist.com that permits specified IP addresses allocated to the number of individual Authorized Users indicated above, where such IP addresses are provided by Client and approved in writing in advance by The Economist.
- Print Edition shall mean Client's receipt of the total number of print subscriptions (described above) that shall be mailed to Client at the addresses provided in writing by Client.

4.) Term of Access

The Economist shall grant such access from the date access is initially provided to Client ("Estimated Start Date") for the period specified above (the "Term of Access"). The Economist may terminate this Agreement with immediate effect in the event of a breach by Client or any Authorized Users of this Agreement (including the Terms of Access) or otherwise in accordance with its terms. Client agrees that should it issue a purchase/insertion order or any other purchasing document, whether before or after the date of this Agreement, any terms that may apply to that document will not supersede, amend or form part of this Agreement and will be disregarded, whether or not such document is signed by The Economist.

5.) Access Fee

Client will pay the following fee(s) to The Economist within 30 days of receipt of invoice:

Invoice Date (date from which The Economist may issue an invoice to Client)	Amount
Upon Client's signature of this Agreement	USD 1,398.00
Total	USD 1,398.00

Invoices will be sent to Client at the following contact details:
